Making the Grade.

While on a motoring trip through southern Indiana we came to a steep hill. The driver put on all the power he could, but it was impossible to climb such a hill. In despair our driver walked to a house atop the hill to see if he could get help. In a few minutes he returned smiling and said the man at the house had advised him to turn the car around and back up. We all laughed, but were soon turned around and slowly backing up the hill. We were about half way up when we saw another machine coming, and as soon as it reached the foot of the hill it turned around and began backing up. When we reached the top the man at the house greeted us and remarked that all cars had to take that hill backward.—Chicago Tribune.

DARING VOYAGE COMES TO AN END

Boston Family Crosses the Atlantic Ocean in Fifty-Foot Boat.

Boston.—In a little 52-foot schooner-rigged knockabout, the Lucy B. Winsor, carrying only two auxiliary engines of 30-horsepower for use in bad weather, Graciano F. Rio, Boston lobster merchant, his wife, son, nine-year-old grandson and one hired navigator have crossed the Atlantic ocean to the Azores, and have undoubtedly by this time reached Portugal, their destination.

In the whole library of New England seafaring there is recorded no more audacious feat than the voyage of the Boston family, which was undertaken as a pleasure trip.

No little effort had been expended in vain attempts to have Mr. Rio give up the project. He was told that it was foolhardy. But the merchant is an experienced sailor. His skill in handling any kind of craft is recognized in Boston harbor. He bought the Winsor some years ago and all last winter and during the preceding summer he had spent most of his spare time in remodeling the boat for the long voyage. The frail craft sailed from Boston harbor late in August. Cablegrams, letters and clippings from Portuguese newspapers published in the Azores reported the safe arrival of the vessel at the port of Angra one month later.

Friends of the Rio family said that they have every reason to believe the voyage achieved a happy conclusion recently in the harbor of Lisbon, a few miles from Mr. Rio's boyhood home.

NERVES SNAP UNDER STRAIN

Ladies' Tailor Wants to Be Sent Back to Austria Where Machines Are Idle.

Greenwich, Conn.—Felix Boehmer, an Austrian, a resident of Greenwich, Conn., formed himself into a parade of one and marching into Greenwich's police headquarters informed Chief Talbot that unless he were placed in a cell forthwith he would go out and smash windows.

Considerations of public tranquillity as well as of the mounting price of glass moved the chief to comply, and then after Boehmer had sunk into a slumber and come out of it again he questioned him.

"That," said Boehmer, referring to the sleep from which he had just awakened, "is the first I have had in five years. I am employed by a ladies' tailor here, and my condition bespeaks the present craze of woman-kind for clothes and then more clothes. Now have me sent back to Austria. I know there is practically nothing to eat there, but at least the sewing machines are idle also and a man may take his rest."

Cincinnati.—The "Man-Haters club" is the designation of an organization recently formed by girl students at the University of Cincinnati. Its code of principles gives the young men to understand that no male company is desired upon the usual basis.

No cave men are desired by the membership as escorts. Only financially independent and physically competent suitors, "willing to be brought up like father," will be given favor at the university this year.

Things Not What They Seem.

It happened in Muncie. One of the city's socially prominent and beautiful young women was tripping along an uptown street when she met the wife of the pastor of her church.

"Oh, my dear, what a perfectly beautiful vanity case you are carrying!" exclaimed the minister's wife. At the same time the latter grasped the supposed vanity case, pressed the spring in order to see the interior, and out popped a dozen cigarettes.—Indianapolis News.
